DRIVER IN FATAL ACCIDENT HELD UNDER $1,000 BAIL

ARREST JOHN CARROLL ON CHARGE OF DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED.

GET MOONSHINE

Whiskey Found in Raid of Carroll Home—Butler Is Called Innocent Victim.

Police investigation into Friday's motor truck accident south of the city, in which William Butler, 22, car-old Janesville youth, was killed, resulted in the arrest Saturday of John Carroll, 703 Linn street, on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He is held at the county jail under bond of $1,000 fixed by Judge J. L. Masfield when he was arraigned in municipal court Saturday morning. His examination is set for Wednesday.

Butler's Home. In a raid of Carroll's home shortly before noon Saturday, Chief Morrissey and a squad of policemen confiscated a pint of alleged moonshine whiskey and found two empty gallon jugs which had evidently contained moonshine until recently.

Carroll's moonshine party is given by police to account for the fatal accident Friday on the curve in the Deloit concrete highway south of the city. Carroll was driving a Buick sedan in driving while intoxicated. It is alleged, was the cause of the death of young Butler, a clean young man never known by his friends to have taken a drink.

Chief Holmes Driver. "It's too bad that a fine young fellow like Butler was ever with Carroll," said Chief Morrissey. "From what I hear, Carroll was going to drive to Deloit with the truck Friday morning with another man, but when this party did not show, he asked Butler to accompany him. Apparently Carroll was a little drunk, and the moonshine, resulting in the accident on the return home. Butler was the innocent victim."

"Young Butler worked for me for seven years and I never knew of a cleaner young man," said Frank Britt, contractor.

Complaint and warrant for the arrest of Carroll were signed by Butler's brother.

No Inquest Ordered. How Carroll happened to be driving the truck owned by Hayes & Langdon, is another angle of the case which police are trying to straighten out.

Carroll was arrested by police on Friday morning and taken to the Deloit police station where he was held.

"All an inquest would show would be that Butler came to his death when a motor truck turned turtle," he said.

Butler Funeral Monday. Funeral services for Butler will be held at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning at the home of Mrs. Walter street, and at 2 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. Burial will be in St. Olaf cemetery.

FEAR MORON PLANNED TO CAPTURE AND FLEE WITH HAMPER CHILD.

HOUSE ENTERED

Report Attempt to Grab Child From Bed—Affair Is Mystery to Parents.

Mystery shrouds the reported attempt at kidnaping of 11-year old Doris Hamper from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hamper, 1413 Clark street, early Friday morning. The neighborhood has been alarmed under the belief that a moron attempted to steal the child while the parents and three other couples were in the home.

No other couple has been advanced for the family members declare that kidnaping for ransom is not a reasonable motive.

With Mr. and Mrs. Hamper, there were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schrick, Mr. and Mrs. David Dominick and Mr. and Mrs. A. Steinhilber. During the early part of the evening the four couples played cards. About 10 o'clock the child went to bed in a downstairs room, adjoining the bedrooms in which the four couples had their late luncheon.

Door Left Open. When the child was put to bed the mother left the door ajar about two feet, it is explained. No further attention was paid because she was sleeping soundly. Near 11 o'clock the child was awakened by a scream of fright from the child.

The mother and the others rushed to the bedroom. The door was locked, they say. The child said she continued to scream. They then hastened outside and saw they found one of the two windows wide open. This window had been closed by the child. The mother and the others rushed to the door and found the door was found unharmed, except for her fright.

According to the story the 11-year old child told the mother, she was awakened in the darkened room. She thought it was her mother.

"What do you want—mother?" the child was supposed to have asked. "I have come to get you—now don't scream," is the reply the child quotes the man as having said.

The father, according to her account, fled out the window. She describes the intruder as wearing a long coat with a white lining and a white shirt. The father, according to her account, fled out the window.

Outside the bed-room window two dark buggy garments were found and a weak flash-light. Tracks were traced Friday morning by police from the bottom of the hill. In addition tracks were found beneath the window to the dining room, indicating that someone had been standing watching through the window.

The father, according to her account, fled out the window. She describes the intruder as wearing a long coat with a white lining and a white shirt. The father, according to her account, fled out the window.

SOLDIER HOSPITAL BILL IS ENGROSSED

Proposed Plan Calls for Building on Island in Madison Lake.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Madison.—The senate unanimously engrossed the Huber bill calling for a memorial hospital for treatment of shell-shocked soldiers Saturday morning.

The bill, which would provide $100,000 to be spent on a permanent hospital to be located at Governor's Island on the shores of Lake Mendota at Madison. The remainder of the $250,000 provided will be used for construction of the hospital building, to house additional soldiers, and for complete equipment to treat the soldiers suffering from mental disorders.

Little objection rose to engrossment of the bill. It is to be built on Governor's Island, which is owned by the state, and is a beautiful spot for a hospital.

The bill was introduced by Senator Huber, and was passed by a vote of 18 to 1.

MATHESON HOME, IS CONFIDENT DRY BILL WILL BE LAW

JANESVILLE ASSEMBLYMAN SAYS ONE MORE FIGHT LOOMS UP.

BLAINE WILL SIGN Prohibitionists Not Relaxing Their Diligence Until Governor Gets Measure.

One more legislative fight looms up in Madison before the celebrated Matheson prohibition amendment will go to the governor for his signature to become an act. The author of the bill, Alexander R. Matheson, Janesville assemblyman, Saturday expressed confidence that the measure would pass.

"While the bill is not out of 'the woods' and there is one more hurdle before the senate and the house, I am confident it will pass," said the Janesville assemblyman. "We are not relaxing our diligence a bit. It is generally understood in the legislature that the governor will sign the bill, once it passes."

Assured of Passage. "It certainly has been a hard fight but we are assured of final passage, despite all the organized attempts to kill and hinder the bill in the senate," said Mr. Matheson.

The Matheson bill is now before the joint finance committee. The proposed legislation carries an estimated cost of $1,000,000 for the enforcement of the law during the present legislative session, for the bill puts enforcement "teeth" into present all existing prohibition laws.

Other Fights Looming. A fight is expected when the University tuition bill comes up in the near future. The Janesville assemblyman announced his intention of opposing any increase of the fee to the Wisconsin school. Another bill that Mr. Matheson stated he was interested in was the proposal to increase the tax on the industrial commission.

"Such a law would mean better regulation of the hotels that need regulation," he was stated. "An increase in the fee would mean a more efficient police force and would improve employment and social conditions for hotel employees."

Auto Register Bill. The bill which proposes to abolish the township assessors and have a county assessor, which is of vital concern to Rock county, has been changed so that it is optional for the counties to decide about adoption of the law, it is passed.

So far as is known the bill fostered by the state register of deeds association to have all automobiles registered is dead from the lack of support and attention.

STILL IN JAIL. Aubrey Wenzel, Rockford, one of the three fined $100 and costs on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, is still in the Rock county jail in default of payment of fine and costs. He at one time worked in Janesville.

NEW LAW ENFORCEMENT. "Taxes are going to be higher for the tax rate seems to be running away in the last three years," said the assessor. "The assessor is going to make assessments to have the amounts equalized truly and fairly. You assessors cannot hold down taxes in your district as was attempted in Spring Valley, further stated Supervisor Taylor.

Under the new law property is to be assessed in the district where the property is at the time of assessment and the assessor is to have jurisdiction and put on taxes in another township where it is, and if the assessor cannot be found it will be assessed in the district where the property is at the time.

PASSOVER FEAST OBSERVED BY JEWS. Passover, the great feast of the Jews, was observed Saturday by Janesville Jews in commemoration of the deliverance of the Jews from the Egyptians when the Lord smote the first born of the Egyptians and spared their ones of the Jews which had been sprinkled with the blood of a lamb or kid.

The seven days following this the people ate unleavened bread which is a sign of haste and the whole ceremonial of Passover or unleavened cakes was to be repeated at all times as a commemorative symbol of their great deliverance. Until this day has been observed by the Jews.

Mexican and American

Washington, D. C., April 22.—The United States government has announced that it has received from the Mexican government a large quantity of opium which it has agreed to distribute to the United States for medicinal purposes.

Whether the plan shall be government purchase of the rights in other countries or a concession between the American government and the oil interests, a whole lot of questions have not yet been decided but certain it is that the United States is starting in a new era of oil.

Under the plan, the United States will have a monopoly on the oil fields in the United States and Mexico.

In the first place, the American government has been informed that the Mexican government is planning to distribute the oil fields in the United States and Mexico to the United States for medicinal purposes.

CITY WILL WATCH CAFE MILK SALES

Woodworth Says Restaurant Men Should be Careful Not to Thin Milk.

Under the new Janesville milk ordinance the cafe and restaurant owners will have to exercise more care in selling milk that meets the strict specifications of the ordinance. The sale of skim milk is prohibited and all milk must contain at least three percent butter fat solids.

men is to serve milk in individual bottles," declared Dr. Leigh J. Woodworth, city sanitary inspector. "Many cafe owners get their milk supply in cans. They skim off the top for cream and thereby rob the milk of the butter fat. A person who purchases milk to drink is entitled to the percent of cream that the state law and now the city ordinance require."

An investigation has been made by the Bureau on the quality of milk sold in the Janesville eating places. In tests made last week not a sample tested up to the state specifications, it was declared. Some of the milk tested below one percent and had water content.

ROTADALE CIRCUS IS GREAT PERFORMANCE

executed by a squad of small boys under the tutelage of A. C. Preston. It was evidenced by the storm of applause which greeted the performance of the boys that love for the flag had not been quenched. The Welsh twins fought a furious three rounds in the prize ring to a draw. Entered in the heavyweight class the boys entered the ring fit for a finish fight and more than a 100 pounds underweight. The fight, which was very close, was one of the biggest features. The wrestling match of Dan Brown, and Dan West, two Greek wrestlers, was declared a draw after they wrestled on the mat for 25 minutes without a fall. Little Percy Johnson, dressed as the woman midget, executed several death-defying acts as the tight-rope walker.

All-Stars Made A Hit.

Entered in the light yellow uniforms of the Janesville All-Stars several different forms of ladder gymnastics were given by a squad of 12 boys. Boys of the vocational school dressed in blue bloomers and dresses with wooden shoes and white bonnets gave a Dutch dance to the tune of "O Where, O Where, Has My Little Dog Gone?" The last act was an exhibition of statue posing done on a turn table by Ronald Meyers and Alfred Gaspel.

J. C. Koller, of the Y. M. C. A., "chief of police," kept order among the crowds of which he had charge, wielding his big stick, backed by the arm of the law. The chief amusement makers were J. A. Steiner and Lars Larson. Both did stunts on the bars rivaling any circus acrobat. Rev. Henry Williamson, attired as a farmer direct from "Hicksville," joined the force after working as a joiner under. Rev. J. A. Melrose sold cracker jack. Other clowns were Howard Hall, George Raubacher, Harold Baumann, John Hanchett, William Buchholz, Claire Kinney, Harry Scott, Leo Powers and Dorothy Jensen. Jensen starred as an imitator of Charlie Chaplin with his dog, which in private life is the property of A. E. Bergmann. A marvelous juggling act of several articles on a tray balanced on a long pole by Russell Palmer, mystified the audience.

Nobody could resist taking in the sideshows, with the alluring pictures, free demonstrations and the instant barbers balding at the tops of their heads. The first sideshow entered was run by Malcolm Douglas in an oriental costume he gave a dance outside. Richard Saxby was the star of this show, with his oriental dancing. Others who danced in the arena were Miriam Decker, Helen Franklin, Alice Barlow, Edna Peterson, Malcolm Douglas and Kenneth Smith.

For real entertainment, the circus vaudeville stunt run by Louis Levy and William McNeil was a hit. Six acts in succession, continuous for nearly half an hour made up this show. Lorraine and John Kennedy gave a buck and wing dance. Ruth Scarlett an interpretation of an American ballad, while Darrell Sullivan, Mrs. William McNeil and Roy Ryan, the coms, did some good juggling and had some bright lines. A good musical act was put on by Mrs. J. Frank Murrugh singing and Mrs. Grace Arthur playing the violin while four girls in ballet costumes gave graceful dances. They were Jane Gage, Nancy Wheeler, Betty Haumerson and Dorothy Grubb.

lock, Betty Haumerson and Dorothy Grubb.

George McKee, whose fame at sleight-of-hand is well known, kept the many people guessing with all his tricks. He was the "Rajah of Lunjah," consumed in a black suit with a white turban, had his face stained and looked the part. Maurice Warwick ballyhoed for this show.

Those who saw the dwarf show run by J. C. Jensen declared it to be one of the best. Harry Jensen and Henry Gundersen took the parts of dwarfs, while P. O. Holt, "barked" for them. A musical comedy show was run by George King, in Hester Street dress. Those who took part in the dancing and singing were Rex Jacobs, Sophus Solle, Cal Blodgett, Mrs. Allen Dearborn, Mrs. Elbridge McFaid, and Frances Jackman.

"Cook-light" was an added attraction. In place of the wildest show at the end of the circus performance, members from the Wisconsin School for the Blind gave a concert. The opening number was a selection by the entire company. Followed by a cornet solo by Alton Davis. Mr. Hoyer gave a bass solo, and a cornet and French horn duet was given by Alton Davis and Isabel Gittings. "Winslow's Soothing Syrup" as sung by the Lincoln quartet made a hit with the audience.

Rotarians, Y. M. C. A. officials and all who had a part in the performance are elated at its success. It was felt that the rain would put a damper on the crowds but it was later felt that had the weather been ideal the management would not have been able to accommodate the crowds. In Wortendyke and Judge Charles Riffled in their long frock coats and high silk hats made a fine appearance as doormen.

In general charge of the whole circus committee of the Rotary club was Charles Touche, whose untiring efforts contributed largely to the success of the circus.

The Most Beautiful Car in America

The One True Test

The one sure way to determine actual motor car value is by a thorough, exhaustive demonstration.

In the show room, you can tell at a glance whether a car satisfies your artistic demands. The next step, then, is to get out on the road and discover what lies under the hood. Power, Speed and Endurance are qualities of action that only a ride can establish.

We suggest just this course in judging any Paige 6-66 model. We go one step farther, however, and invite you to compare it with any other car—at any price—on the American market. Take the comparative demonstrations first. Then inspect the price tags.

Paige, remember, is the stock car speed champion of the world. And the motor that you will find under a 6-66 hood belongs to Paige and Paige alone. Don't forget that.

What Is Your Furniture Worth?

Go down to a furniture store and see what it would cost you to replace your household furnishings.

The dresser for which you paid $20.00 would now cost you $25.00, and so on through the list—the furniture you bought five years ago has at least doubled in value.

Have you doubled your insurance?

If not, and you should have a fire, your insurance money would replace less than half of your household goods.

THE GIRL WHO HAD NO CHANCE

By Marion Rubincam

CHAPTER XVI

INCHES REFUSED

Ruth sent Tim away at the gate of her house. "You really shouldn't take time from your work, the people might not like it," she urged.

"But I tell you I've got to skip out for a little," he answered. "Lord, I've sneaked off for an hour many an afternoon to watch a ball game. They say I'm a real fan."

"Still, it doesn't seem fair, or right," Ruth said, her serious blue eyes raised to his.

"All right, Miss Conscience," he laughed. "I'll go back at once and work half my lunch hour. When do I see you next?"

"Tomorrow evening," Ruth told him.

And with that promise he went away.

It was with a real feeling of loneliness that the girl turned into the empty house. Somehow the place had never seemed so large for her before. She and her mother and father were rich in space at least. When she spread over two or three rooms, she knew as the "library," the "parlor," usually closed off the great dining room and the kitchen, took up the entire floor.

Ruth had a room adjoining her own bedroom—a room she usually used as her own little study. She went up to it now, to make up the bed, to wash, to get ready for the day. She was to serve as a waitress at the housework, half frightened at the noise her feet seemed to make in the emptiness.

She made up her bed and straightened her own room, then stripped the other beds and put away the covers. She gathered up and put away the scattered odds and ends, and rather left room having nothing, and rather sadly closed off the big rooms used by her father and mother. She had a feeling of having sold a lone farewell when she shut the door.

Tim was coming tomorrow night—she would give him an answer then.

She had little doubt what she loved Tim with all her heart. A little wave of pleasure went through her at this. The very loneliness of the house, the prospect of being alone all winter, increased her growing affection for the boy.

But, of course, it was foolish to think of marrying—all her common sense told her that. Tim had nothing, she had more than nothing—and she must make some sort of career for herself.

At every hour that passed, told her that she was more in love. She was only waiting for a sign.

What Shall I Do?

Answered by VIRGINIA PAGE

Some Answers to Inquiries
 "Twins"—You will have to send for a personal answer to your letter.

"A Happy Wife"—Many thanks for your letter. I am passing your advice on to the girl with the stubborn fiancé, and will print it as soon as I get the room.

"M. C. S."—Don't meet the boy up town; if he likes you enough, he will come to your home for you.

"W. M. S."—One introduction is enough. Go out with the young man if he asks you, of course, if he is in love with you, and you are in love with someone before you even met him, you couldn't do.

"Shubbed"—The only way to make your schoolmates like you is to be kind and friendly, so interested in them and ready to sympathize with them and help them when you can, that they can't help liking you. Try it.

"Lulu Mae"—You didn't send me your last name and address, so I can't do that, and I can't even tell you what you want to know about the hue, chest, and all be glad to help you.

"Frenchy"—Just speak to your boy friend the first time you see him and tell him you'll be coming again right off. He's probably been wondering what was the matter with you all this time.

"Black Eyes"—Don't ever go against your parents' wishes—keep your cool. You are much older than you look. Don't give him up entirely—keep him as one of your good friends, but tell him you must have other boy friends your own age.

"Anxious"—Ignore the man who annoys you, and he will soon stop. If he is sure you don't love him, he will go. Bobbie's hair is very popular and proper enough if it is becoming. Puffs were never pretty, and are almost out of style now, fortunately.

"Anxious Betty"—Try applying for an apprenticeship in the workrooms of the department stores.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Page in care of the "What Shall I Do?" department will be answered in the columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. Send a personal or letter reply if you desire. Stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the questions.—The Editor.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE:

Mrs. Fink was over last night, and all of a sudden I happened to think of what you wrote about us still being in a state of semi-war with Germany, and I remembered that Mrs. Fink is largely German on both sides, and the most peculiar feeling came over me. I can't describe it Joe, but it wasn't a feeling of 100 per cent. Americanism. Here I was entertaining an alien enemy by descent! What was I to do? I didn't want to offend Mrs. Fink, because after all she was my guest and besides she's got a temper like a swearing trooper, but on the other hand my patriotism was at stake. I was between the devil and the high C, as the saying is.

But at last I decided to use the diplomatic method, and I said, "Mrs. Fink, I say, I wouldn't think you'd feel quite at home with your conscience, calling on 100 per cent. American people with all that German blood in your veins and arteries and peace still a missing word between the two countries." I say.

"Oh that's all right," she says, "I always invariably carry a little German flag in my handbag and that oils my conscience."

Well Joe that was all right as far as she was concerned but it left me in the same position as before, only worse. If we only had a photograph I'd have put on the Star Spangled Banner and kept it on all evening, but you know you always said you're too fond of music to have a photograph of the country flag. So I hit on the idea of humming the country flag. I hit on the Star Spangled Banner is too hard to hum and catches in your nose, and I kept on humming My Country 'Tis of Thee whenever Mrs. Fink started to do the talking until finally she left in a huff. Another victory for the old U. S. A. hen Joe.

Love from self and child.

Tessie.

WOMAN ELECTED TO VILLAGE BOARD IS COMMUNITY LEADER

MRS. STELLA M. ROSS.

(By Special Correspondent.)

Milton always interested in movements which were for civic betterment in this village. Mrs. Stella M. Ross came before the attention of the villagers at caucus time and she was nominated and elected as a member of the village board of trustees.

A native of Weston, Clinton county, Iowa, Stella Lefflor, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Lefflor. Miss Lefflor graduated from the Maquoketa high school, later graduating from Milton college. She was married to Dexter Ross, who died a short time after their marriage.

Mrs. Ross then came to Milton with her parents, and was married to George R. Ross, a business man of this village. Mrs. Ross is the mother of two children, Lois A. and Malcolm L. Ross.

At the Theaters

Apollo theater-goers were given a solid hour and a half of good entertainment, Friday, with a well staged Selznick film production, "The Dangerous Paradise." The picture was a most unusual variety, with a number of scenes mixed in to make more entertaining. It was the story of a girl in her teens, and troubles in ensuring the right man and her reward to a pseudo husband for a short time to make her game possible.

With Lefflor & Kelly, "Two black gentlemen from Echo valley," as headliners, the vaudeville this week is clean, thorough and high-class entertainment. With some dancing, good comedy, and a little singing, the blackface act was the hit of the bill Friday night.

A dash of true harmony, catchy songs and dancing, put the Bill & Mack act across in good style. Kitty Malone was well received in her childhood singing act while the comedy acrobatic act of Williams & Lee came in for a good share of the applause.

OF INTEREST TO HOUSEWIVES

What promises to be a lively campaign to curtail or prevent the substitution of coconut oil for butterfat in milk, cream and milk compounds is in progress. Dieticians, consumers' organizations and others are appealing to state legislatures to make it unlawful to manufacture and sell imitation milk products in which coconut oil displaces butterfat either in part or whole. The opponents contend that as coconut oil does not contain vitamins, it is not in the interest of public health to

AGED WANDERER TO COUNTY FARM

G. W. Seabrook, 75-year-old wanderer who wandered into the police station last night claiming to have walked here from Chicago, is being cared for at the county home for the poor. He will probably leave there when he recovers from the effects of his long journey.

Dr. T. J. Snodgrass before being taken to the county home, Seabrook claims his home is in Atlanta, Ga., and that he came here because wages are too low in the South.

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man 24 years of age and have been going with a young lady of the same age. We were engaged to be married when I met another girl and found out that I loved her more for her. Now I am at a loss to know what would be the better way, to go and tell her just how I feel, or just stay away and avoid you till I tell the girl how you feel and ask her to release you.

"Miss L. N."—Get a cleaning preparation at a drug store.

"May"—Do not go with a married man. He does not love his wife, and he does not love you either. If he is not, he would not ask you to sacrifice yourself and do the things he wants you to. It is decidedly wrong to go on the trips and would also be wrong to go to the town where he lives.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been writing to a boy at a navy yard. He seems to be a very nice young man, but I know nothing of him or his people. How can I find out what he is? Do you think that I could find out about him through the navy department? If so, to whom should I write?

The best way will be to judge the young man by his letters. Let your parents read them too, and pass their judgment. It will betray his character in what he writes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man and would like to know if it would be proper for me to write a friendly note to a young lady and ask her for a picture of her. We were schoolmates several years ago, but have not had a conversation since. If it is all right to write a note, had I better find out if she has a regular caller or not?

THANK YOU.

TO INSTALL NEW PASTOR, TUESDAY

FRANK J. SCRIBNER

Installation ceremonies for Rev. Frank J. Scribner as pastor of the Congregational church here to which he was called from a Milwaukee parish last October will be held at the church at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

An installing council composed of pastors from neighboring parishes will convene at 2:30 o'clock and conduct the usual examination. Dinner will be served at 4 o'clock in the church house. Admission by ticket only.

Rev. Percy Ladd, Moline, Ill., will preach the sermon and Rev. T. M. Shipper, Milwaukee, and Rev. L. C. Talmage, Madison, superintendent of the Wisconsin Congregational conference will also take part in the formal services.

Parishes in the district which will be represented in the installing Council by the pastor and one layman delegate and three churches at Deloit, Dodgeville, Delavan, Edgerton, Elkhorn, Evansville, Janesville, Port Clinton, Sheboygan, Stoughton, and Whitewater.

Superior—A phonograph savings bank "raided" when thieves broke in to the home of E. J. Shuster, ransacked the place and took $25 hidden in a phonograph. When the family returned the machine they found it had run down and a record played over. The record was "Goodbye Forever."

Furniture costs should not be based on original price, but upon years of service. There are many little items on a suite that, while hardly noticeable, will cut the cost materially if discarded. Much of the expense of furniture is hidden, yet a piece that is not constructed properly cannot be expected to withstand the strain of daily use. All furniture we show is designed correctly—made as well as furniture can be made. We invite your inspection.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been writing to a boy at a navy yard. He seems to be a very nice young man, but I know nothing of him or his people. How can I find out what he is? Do you think that I could find out about him through the navy department? If so, to whom should I write?

The best way will be to judge the young man by his letters. Let your parents read them too, and pass their judgment. It will betray his character in what he writes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man and would like to know if it would be proper for me to write a friendly note to a young lady and ask her for a picture of her. We were schoolmates several years ago, but have not had a conversation since. If it is all right to write a note, had I better find out if she has a regular caller or not?

THANK YOU.

Your friends use it—you don't know it.

BIG PROGRAM FOR "CLEAN-UP" WEEK

City to Chase Dirt and Don Clean Clothes All Next Week.

Community cooperative spirit will be called upon for the creation of a better Janesville through work during the clean-up week, which starts Monday.

The campaign this year will be made more extensive, for there is to be a sanitary survey by the health department and the officials in charge here that the clean-up spirit will be made permanent.

A drive is being made on Janesville stores by Sanitary Inspector Dr. L. H. Woodworth for the painting and cleaning of the interiors, especially grocery stores and meat shops. People are urged by the inspector to patronize stores which keep their stock clean and their buildings in an acceptable condition by a liberal use of paint and soap.

Improvement should literally transform Janesville. There is no limit to its scope. The week should mean big things for the city, declare the officials. The "clean-up" means the cleaning of the streets, the cleaning of the back yards and basements, the cutting of weeds, the removal of rubbish and debris from vacant lots, the draining or filling of stagnant ponds, and above all the doing away with fifth heaps which furnish a breeding place for flies.

Next to removal of dirt come the planting of gardens, flower pots, window boxes, neat lawns, and the trimming of lawn hedges, trees and bushes. All these factors tend to create more sanitary and healthful conditions, reduce illness, disease, and add to the beauty of surroundings. Together with these municipal assets the value of property is increased, fire risk reduced, and a better civic spirit created.

It is zeal, determination and community pride that is going to put over "clean-up" week and to make the city a better place in which to live.

Clean Up Alleys

The streets and alleys need cleaning. Right now they are littered with refuse and accumulations from the stables, stores and houses. Few realize how dirty they are and how much of a menace they constitute, according to Dr. L. H. Woodworth, sanitary inspector. Janesville's river banks with the piles of garbage, old stumps, piles of boxes, tumble-down structures, as seen from the Milwaukee street bridge, is not good advertising for the city.

"No city ever suffered in the eyes of strangers for having clean streets, clean alleys, and well-kept yards, both in the front and in the rear of the houses," said Dr. Woodworth. "A vegetable or flower garden is a decided improvement over an ash heap scattered over the lot."

Buy Garbage Cans Now
This year the property owner will have to arrange for the carrying away of rubbish, ashes, and discarded cans. Unless other arrangements are made the city street department will only take care of cleaning the streets and alleys. Teamsters will cart away the debris, placed near the curb, for a nominal charge.

People are urged by the health department to obtain metal garbage cans to use instead of throwing kitchen refuse out of doors for flies to breed. The city collection system will soon be in use. The health de-

Every Dairy Farmer Needs

A GRAY BUTTER FAT TESTER

There are several reasons why these simple, efficient Testers are needed on the Dairy Farm in this County, chief of which are that they enable the farmer to make his own butter fat test right on his farm without any acids or complicated apparatus, and thus enabling him to weed out the poor producers from his herd, and to give him better assurance of the producing ability of the cows he is buying.

Gray Butter Fat Test is a specific gravity test, the same kind of a test that is used in testing gasoline, alcohol and other liquids, and it is absolutely sure and certain and is so simple that anyone can operate it. With a Gray Butter Fat Tester on your farm you can check your butter fat content each day and know just what your herd is producing.

The Gray Butter Fat Tester is used in the Agricultural Department of the University of Wisconsin and gives great satisfaction. There are over 500 satisfied users in Dane County and we have many unsolicited testimonials of satisfaction on file in our office.

A recent test conducted under the auspices of the Rock County Farm Bureau proved to the men who witnessed it that the Gray Tester will do all that is claimed for it.

The cost is exceedingly small, being but $15.00 for a complete Milk and Cream Testing Outfit, or $10.00 for a Milk Testing Outfit only, or $10.00 for the Cream Testing Outfit only.

A representative of the Gray Tester will be in various parts of Rock County during next week and will call on you at your farm and will make demonstration tests from your own milk for you. You will find it very interesting and will realize at once that you need one of these simple, efficient outfits which will save you money.

We Want Every Man, Woman and Child As Our Guests

Saturday, April 30th.

We are going to have a house-warming and opening in our big store that day; going to sort of celebrate the finish of all the work and fixing that we have been doing since we moved from our old location at 6 South Main Street.

We feel that you'll enjoy your visit with us. We have a beautiful store filled with things that you need in your everyday work or play.

And we are going to entertain you, too. A corps of factory demonstrators will be here to show you the merits of the many labor-saving devices that we sell and how they work.

So just keep Saturday, April 30, an open date and arrange to spend a part of it with us.

"The Spoils of the Strong"—By Eleanor Talbot Kinhead

CHAPTER II—An orchid

Contrary to all precedent, Mrs. Chisholm appeared in the drawing room to receive her guests, thus assuming the duties of hostess of such an occasion for the first time in more than half a century.

A late message telling of illness to the lady who had kindly consented to preside had brought her to a sense of responsibility. It was with a faint color and a peculiar light in her eyes that she turned to look up on the tall figure in white silk and pearls, who advanced leisurely down the length of the long drawing-room as their guests began to arrive.

"I wish you to go to dinner with my guest," she said, "I myself have selected young Mr. Taylor, out of deference to his distinction."

Mrs. Chisholm introduced young Chisholm to Evelyn in her best manner and commanded him to remain at her left until all the members of his household party were known to her, and then by her presence to Evelyn.

But it was not until Geoffrey Taylor, who was the last to enter the room, came forward that her expression altered, something of a trifle stern and calculating. And as she witnessed the meeting between him and Evelyn, veiled, it is true, and far too adroitly managed to suppress anything but a smile, she already awakened, found instant confirmation.

In the meantime, Evelyn, seated at the opposite side of the huge round table, was apparently enjoying thoroughly the society of young Chisholm.

"I had expected to have the undivided honor of introducing the two celebrities, but I am somewhat out of favor with Aunt Harriet just now."

"Are you? What did you do?"

The young man turned to her, but it is not to be regarded as a reproach, it is a consolation to know that my friend Taylor, being the father of a Victorian, you know, and his mother—wasn't she from your state?"

"You have known him—Mr. Taylor for a long time?"

"Since the tender age of two. They were down here one summer, the whole crew, that is, his father and mother and himself. I don't think I have ever seen him since. He challenged me one night to a fist fight and won. So we kept on and the day he left, he knocked the breath out of me, and I was unconscious for something like three hours. Was all that was needed to buckle me to him with hooks of steel so that when he became at Harvard the best football player of his class, there was a great consistent pride in my yells for him that the other fellows could know nothing about. Of course we were only just beginning to suspect in those days that he was something more than a brute force for him on another line altogether."

Once more Evelyn was softly laughing.

"I don't see how a good football player could be so sensitive, do you?" And what do the reviewers mean by insisting upon their analogy of the hermit-thrush?"

"Hermit-thrush! the dickens! It is all just a lot of rot. All that Shelley stood for as a man, Taylor is the reverse of. And yet I don't believe Shelley was a greater genius than he."

All at once Evelyn looked up, changing the subject abruptly.

"Could I—by any chance—have met you somewhere before? You spoke of Harvard."

"Oh, don't mention it, please. You only danced with me six times."

An instant afterwards Mrs. Chisholm gave the signal for departure. Evelyn turned quickly to the young man at her side.

"I remember—I do remember—"

"I remember—I remember—the house where I was born," he quoted easily. "It was only six times—if it had been seven, I could not have forgiven you."

He stepped aside to avoid walking on her gown, and Evelyn was aware, though her lids were lowered, that Geoffrey Taylor was beside her.

He did not speak, and she did not. She was conscious almost to a state of suffocation of the wild leaping of her heart.

Presently she raised her eyes, and shrinking a little from the look upon his white, still face, she began to speak, at first very quietly.

"It was in June," she said, slowly and dreamily, "during Harvard commencement week, and a girl with her companion was leaving the dance rather early, and there was some confusion about the exit. The light must have shown full upon her but the man standing somewhere near the car was in shadow. As she passed one of the orchids at her belt loosened and fell to the ground. He stooped and picked it up, in an instant they were off. She looked back. The young man was still standing where they had left him, and he had her orchid in his hand."

"He has it still—he will have it always," he responded, hoarsely.

"It has been four years, and she was only a phantom of a summer night. He did not even know her name."

"He did not then know her name?" he said, very quietly, "but it was an easy enough matter to discover it. They went away to Europe and to work. That evening marked the beginning for him of a new era of existence. It meant an awakening and a complete conversion."

The Yankees' hit went into the last row of the left field bleachers, but the Yankees were out by the Mackmen and lost 11 to 6. Besides Ruth's hit, the Yankees made only three.

Tim Lincecum made his third home run of the season, and suffered a strain in the leg in Cleveland's victory over the Reds 8 to 7.

McClellan did not give a hit after the third inning and kept the Yankees out of the game. The Dodgers won 4 to 2.

When Lincecum spoke in the second and sixth, allowing the Pirates to pinch hit, Cleveland won, 6 to 1. The Reds played fast ball behind Zinn's good pitching.
